

Dear partners!

We are expanding our dealer network in the EU. If you are a seller of office furniture, an architect, an office designer or a representative of a construction company, pay attention to Silentbox soundproof call and negotiation booths.

Using in the interior of the office cabins allows you to improve the ergonomics of the space and add bright colors to the office. The booths can be designed in any print or corporate style of the company. Thanks to two large windows and active ventilation, it is comfortable to negotiate in the booth even for a long time.

Effective construction of the booth isolates office noise by 95%, which allows placing them near the workplace. And powerful ventilation and specially selected lighting create the most comfortable conditions for productive work.
